

Original Version

EAT SO THEY CAN is the annual fundraiser for GVNf Australia. EAT SO THEY CAN invites hosts around the world to hold a dinner party in October each year. Guests bring a donation that goes towards breaking the poverty cycle in developing countries. In 2007 EAT SO THEY CAN raised $AUD 49,000 and last year EAT SO THEY CAN raised $AUD 78,000. These funds were spent at orphanages, schools and internally displaced person camps in Kenya, Uganda, South Africa and Ethiopia. Each year the funds are allocated to ensure maximum accountability to supporters.

This year Borruso's and GVNf Australia are holding a red carpet EAT SO THEY CAN extravaganza. Funds raised from this bash are going towards building and establishing a primary school 30 km out of Nairobi for children that could not otherwise afford to go to school. After travelling to Africa earlier this year and talking with Kenyan orphanage directors, it is Cass' (Executive Director GVNf Australia) belief that education is the key to breaking the poverty cycle for these children.

So please come, help us support these children and most importantly have a great night out.

Edited Version

“Education is the key to breaking the poverty cycle” – Cass' Executive Director GVNf Australia

This year Borruso's is holding a red carpet EAT SO THEY CAN extravaganza. Every October GVNf Australia invites hosts around the world to hold a dinner party fundraiser. In 2007 EAT SO THEY CAN raised $AUD 49,000. Last year they raised $AUD 78,000. These funds helped orphanages, schools and internally displaced person camps in Kenya, Uganda, South Africa and Ethiopia.

Funds raised at the Borruso's bash will help build and establish a primary school outside Nairobi for children who would otherwise be unable to attend school.

Please come! Help us support these children and have a great night out. We CAN make a difference.